at this time came into the saloon forward demanding the surrender. Most of the passengers were lying on the floor to escape the bullets. Capt. Ziegler was just ascending the companion ladder when tois rebel find at but missed him. He then went above and took his etation and commanded the movements of the steamer, notwithstanding the chower of builtest which came whisting about him. Six of the rebels, seeing they were beite carried out into the river and that their orders were not obeyed, jumped into the water and eachged. Two were left, the officer who haddemanded the surrender, and a private who had demanded the pocket bock of one of the passengers.

The rebels on shore kept up their fire until the boat got out of range. Pilot McPacters the best got out of range. Pilot McPacters the best got out of range. Pilot McPacters the best got out of range with the rebel was shot in the mouth and tell. He took sim after he was down, and shot disposed the rebels were after mong which was in the same who had flourished his revolver in the same who was known to be on board. Jew weeks since; and new on the heels of Jeff. Davis' visit to Georgia, we find that somewhere in his wake he has brought to-gether the Governers of Virginia, North Car-olina, South Carolina, Georgia and Missis. sippl, and that they have agreed that it's or smalling to fight on the other hand a sweeping conscription among them will senderly many of them into our lines, as the certain assurance of freecom to thair race, which would serult from the suppression of the subcilion, would be more attractive to them than the doubtful prospect of freedom to themselves only, hald out by their slave-holding masters. Into our service also, they are promised high bounties for estering voluntarily, while into the ribel service they are drawn involuntarily sad without other bounty than that of their freedom. Some of them may entertain the cumming idea that the freedom which Jeff Davis promises them, Abraham Lincoln has aircasy gives them, and that the Union by its hounties, its freedom to serve or work, its better hope of ultimate success and its broader offer of freedom not only to the black soldier, but to his race, has bid higher for the siave's services than the rubels can. It Jeff Davis does the thing, by haives conscripting the alayes and giving them only freedom to light for the slavery of their relatives and their race, he will only get an army of black rategies Unionists, who will enlist the moment they reach us. He will do us immediately great good. It will be difficult, perhaps impossible, to his force the slaves by wholessie. The South would take the slaves, and claim that Jeff. Davis has bollitonism was outheredling Hered; that he was statking heavier flowes at the facuse and vital strength of the reballion than Mr. Line, his has bellitonism was outheredling Hered; that he was statking heavier flowes at the facuse and vital strength of the reballion than Mr. Line, himself, But should Davis Inaugurate onesal emascipation of the slaves, if would remain to be seen whether the considerable military strength which he would gain would not be counterpained by the political weak-of his position. The reball alayers, if would remain to be saw trade as a means of employing the lima heavered by the political weak-of his position, confideracy do with its lamment free hea of his disloyalty. It reminds no of Lincole's speech when trying to hold up McClellan, in which he said he believed that "McClellan, in which he said he believed the most scathing criticisms of McClellan, in through the streets of McLeansbore, and by noon not less than four thousand people had reached town. About 11 a. m., Maj. Gen. John A. Logas, accompanied by Gen. I. N. Hajnle and U. S. Marshal D. L. Phillips, was met by a isrge procession of citizens, headed than he. The Copperheads have all been landing old Ben. to the skies lately as a man of truth and veracity, and whose tailements were perfectly reliable. We commend his picture of the gnuboat here to their affect thomate consideration.

A Dectaive Victory.

We want a decisive victory in November. We must not be content with material which and the content with the majority so decisive that there can be no cavil at it. And the way to accomplish this is, let everybody take hold and help.

BY We notice that the blockade-runners have carried one very bad bargain to Charleston and Nassa. and other infected portaying the form the North to the fever-atricked.

By We want a decisive that there can be no cavil at it. And the way to accomplish this is, let everybody take hold and help.

BY We notice that the blockade-runners have carried one very bad bargain to Charleston and Victory and the content of the conten cially affects the children, who are thus made the victims of parental size and British outpildity. One is especially reminded by this intelligence of the relief which used to be sent from the North to the fever-stricken clitics of the South. We wonder if bereared 2 beis ever tank of it—of the Northern doctors and nurses who lost their lives in Noriolk not many years ago?

Contrasts are sometimes exceedingly striking: We heard one made, a day of two go, that seemed to us to possess the double ment of truth and originality. Said a veter-yn, life-long Democrat of the Jeffersonian and Jackson school, in commenting on the mutations of men and parties, heaving a long drawn sigh as he spoke: 'Alas! the Democratic party of twenty years ago than the taste of a cucumber resembles the sound of a Kent bugle."
